32 Shooting Video with Still Cameras
A guide to adding motion to your workflow
By Dan Brockett

8 Mirrorless Cameras
By taking something out, camera manufacturers added a lot more back in Text & Photography
By Brian Matiash

16 Essential Cameras: The DSLR
Great cameras abound, but the DSLR still represents the embodiment of versatile, capable, professional cameras
Text By William Sawalich
Photography By David Schloss

24 The Best Camera Fits in Your Pocket, But It's Not Your Phone
Compact cameras might be becoming obsolete, but they have an important role for the enthusiast and pro
Text & Photography
By Brian Matiash

40 Get in on the Action
Today's go-anywhere action cameras can capture amazing footage, no matter the conditions
By David Schloss
44 Essential Lenses and Necessary Accessories
Outfit a growing camera kit with the ideal lenses and accessories for the kind of photography you like to do - from travel to landscapes, portraits to wildlife
By William Sawalich

52 Strobe Fun in the Cuban Sun
Ira Block spent three years photographing baseball in Cuba, with a little help from strobes and a lifetime supply of lighting know-how
By William Sawalich
Photography by Ira Block

58 Making Sense of Storage Media
Maximizing the potential of today's offerings in the storage and backup space
By Brett Wilhelm

64 Exit

66 Editor's Note

68 Exit

PHOTO BY VINCENT LIM

Living in Cuba, an island in the middle of the Pacific, I often find my soul by the water. My journey as a photographer began with shooting raccoons and waves, and it always feels like I’m back there. The ocean breeze, salt in the air; the sound of waves crashing brings a sense of calm and home. For more of his work, you can follow him on Instagram @vincentlimphoto

FOR AN EXTENSIVE ARCHIVE OF BACK ISSUES:
dp mag.com